now Acting Colonial Secretary, has been made a C.M.G. As a reward for good and long service the honour is well merited. As a result of the heavy rain of the last two days, several small landslips have cocurred in various parts of the colony. Thirty feet of a new wall at the Parsee Cemetery collapsed yesterday. The water in Pokfulam reservoir had risen this morning to within eleven feet of the by-wash. WALTER Jackson, assistant to Mesers Lane. Crawford & Co., was summond before Mr. Robinson in the Police Court this morning for recklessly firing a gun at Telm-sha-taui on the 19th inst. It was stated in evidence that the defendant fired two shots which went over the heads of some soldiers who were bathing at Taim-sha-lant. The defendant was dismissed with a caution. THE enquiry into the circumstances connected with the extensive fire which occurred recently in Bonham Strand West We continue to supply large bottles was to have been resumed by Mr Wodehouse, but was again adjourned. The search among the rums at the scene of the fire has resulted in the finding of the bodies whenever practicable, are despatched by of the two shopmen, who were unable to escape from the burning building. The bodies had been covered by the heap of debris formed by the fallen floors and walls, and were hardly recognisable. Mr. Wodehouse examined several witnesses with reference to the death of these two men, but without eliciting anything to show the actual circumstances under which the fatality occurred. A trader who was lodging in the shop at the time of the fire claimed 479 silver dollars which were found in a heap among the debris, and the money was handed over to him.

Two more coolies were brought before Mr

Robinson in the Police Court to-day charge

ed with dumping building rubbish into the

harbour. The complained; who was Mr. Edward Griffen, overseer, Public Works Department, said he saw the cooling emptying baskets of building rubbish into the harbour near the Victoria Hotel. The cost of clearing away building rubbish thrown in between the City Hall and the Harbour (fice where there were drain outfalls had of late been about $1,000 per month. Complainant had cleared away a great deal some months ago, but there was now more than when he began, the dumping going. on faster than the stuff could be cleared away. Yesterday he saw at least twenty different coolies dumping mbbish. The defendants were fined $10 each, with the alternative of six weeks hand, labour. They went to prison. Wa have to acknowledge remains by the American mail to-day of the Trustees' Report for last year of the Salem Public Library, and of an Opening Address delivered by the Mayor, Hop. John M. Raymond, at the opening of the Library on June 26, 1889. The audient city of Balem has been the home of several pioneers in China, and we observe the name of Mr Tho. mas F. Hunt on the Board of Trusteen of the Public Library referred to Mr Hunt was well known here in the olden days, as was his father before him, and he still takes a warm interest in the affairs of Hongkong. The Salem Public Library is located in a building presented to the Board by four ladies, over $22,000 were spent in alterations on the building, and nearly $13,000 were expended in books. A RATHER disagreeable incident has just occurred at Tokyo, which shows that the Japanese, although they have made great strides in civilisation, have not got rid of all the traits of barbarism. The Rev. J. Summers, a missionary at Tokyo, while passing along a street in his pony carriago, happened to meet the Empress Dowager and her escort. He drove his vehicle to the side of the street to allow the Imperial equipage to pass. When the lancers who were riding in front-of the Imperial carriage came opposite the place where he was, one of them knocked off his hat with the butt of his lance. Mr Summers was not injured, but he was naturally very indignant at the insult. He was quite prepared tompcover at the proper moment, and the violent conduct of the lancer was an altogether uncalled-for breach of discipline. Mr Summers complained to the British Minister, and it is stated that the soldier was punished for his misconduct. The matter might have ended here, had it not been that very garbled versions of the affair appeared in the native papers, according to which Mr Summers wished to deliberately insult the Empress. Some hot-blooded youths of Tykyo thought they were called upon to show their patriotism by coming forward as champions of the Empress. One of them went to the missionary's house and upbraided him. Mr Summers treated the man civilly, but being disturbed by the roughness of his language, summoned the police and handed over the intruder to them. The police on investigating the affair, saw no reason to keep the bot-headed imperialist in custody, and he was reprimanded and released. Subsequently a threatening epistic reached Mr Summers. and afterwards three men came to hu house, one of them carrying a letter which warned him that the soshi of Hongo intended to give him a besting. They were all arrested, and taken to the police station. The Honourable Mr Napier, First Secretary of H.B.M.'s Legation, hearing of the trouble at Mr Summers' house, paid a visit to the family, and being present when the bearer of the second letter arrived, took the youth by the collar and thrust him out. Mr Summers, in order not to be Yokohama.

INCREASE AND DECREASE OF POPULATION. The geometrical increase of population, says the Mainichi Shimbun, and the arithmetical increase of bread-stuffs point to a condition of serious distress for humanity. Hence the necessity of means to restrict the increase of population. Such was the doctrine advanced by Malthus many years ago. It agitated the economical world not a little. But since then economists have perceived a to me that I have been instructed to present principle of another kind, namely, that wealth is the result of labour, and that every increase of population is in effect an increase of wealth. London April 20, The Czar and his family have taken up their residence at Gatschina, despite the forebodings of the rolice, and nothing has happened there since their arrival on Tuesday. But St. Petersburg is convulsed by the announcement of the discovery of a plot to secure secret plans of the fortresses and by the suicide of an artillery staff officer.

The money for the former business was found by Baron Pleasen, a Garman naval attache, who has in consequence left Russia, having received a not over-polite hint that the climate might not continue suitable for his health. The artillery of ficer, there is no reason to doubt, was a member of the recently anearthed military conspiracy against the Czar's life, and killed himself to avoid arrest.

But the most startling thing of all is the fact that the revolutionary taint has actually spread to the imperial family itself. The venue Grand Duke Constantine has acquired the dangerous and unprincely habit of writing, and has written a poem addressed to the young men of Russia. Here is the prose translation, obligingly telegraphed by the correspondent of the Daily News : -

'My friend and my brother, whose trials are so many, whose griefs are so sore, whoever thou art, do not despair, for God knows all-both all the wrong and all the misery. Our sacred ideal is desecrated and shattered and the blood of innocence is flowing everywhere. Yet give not up. All obstacles must fall. Holy Freedom shall tear the crown of thorns from off her brow. She shall burst her chains asunder, shake the cross from off her shoulders, and reign at last triumphant. This, my friend, is no poet's dream, no vain hope...

Look about you. Evil is rampant every where. Deepest night surrounds us. The fatherland is weakened by suffering and stoeped in blood, and turns its tearful eyes to heaven and begs for mercy. Lamthotempter of fate. Capricious destiny has given tator of events. The German people have me wealth and honor and power. What are hey to me? The cold dark grave will swallow all. But nature's gifts are dearer to me. She has given me song. I will cheer you to the battle against evil. I ask you not to receive me for the blood which courses through my veins, but because I too, am prepared to give my life for the good and the glory of our common mother, Russia." The Czar's position-is a painful one, There are, of course, precedents for imprisoning and even murdering a Russian dake, but modern ideas are not without their influence in Russia, and if Constantine's folly is to be noticed, at all will probably suffer no worse a fate than temporary confinement in a lunatic asylum or a short term of seclusion in some distant
